

Portuguese inflows into Germany increase for the third year in a row

2024-05-21

In 2023, 6,375 Portuguese entered Germany, according to data from the Statistisches Bundesamt Deutschland. The German agency accounted for a total of 1,372,600 foreigners entering Germany, with the Portuguese accounting for 0.5% of this total. +

After small increases in 2021 and 2022, the number of Portuguese entering Germany rose again in 2023, with 6,375 Portuguese entering the country, an increase of 7.4 per cent compared to 2022. However, in the German case, it is impossible, strictly speaking, to specify the variations that occurred between 2015 and 2018. According to the German Central Register of Foreigners itself, of the 16,325 entries registered in 2017, only 7,095 took place that year. The remaining 9,203 entries took place in previous years but were only registered in 2017. The values of this indicator for the years 2014 and 2016 are therefore undercounted, those for 2017 are inflated and neither the growth recorded between 2016 and 2017 nor the decrease between 2017 and 2018 are real.
