

Entry of Portuguese nationals into Germany reaches its highest level since 2018

2025-04-29

In 2024, 7,410 Portuguese entered Germany, according to data from the Statistisches Bundesamt Deutschland. The German agency accounted for a total of 1,178,225 foreigners entering Germany, with the Portuguese accounting for 0.6% of this total. +

The upward trend observed since 2021 continues into 2024, with the number of Portuguese nationals entering Germany increasing for the fourth consecutive year. The figure recorded in 2024 is the highest in the series since 2018. However, in the German case, it is impossible, strictly speaking, to specify the variations that occurred between 2015 and 2018. According to the German Central Register of Foreigners itself, of the 16,325 entries registered in 2017, only 7,095 took place that year. The remaining 9,203 entries took place in previous years but were only registered in 2017. The values of this indicator for the years 2014 and 2016 are therefore undercounted, those for 2017 are inflated and neither the growth recorded between 2016 and 2017 nor the decrease between 2017 and 2018 are real.

Portuguese inflows into Germany, 2001-2024

Source Graph by Observatório da Emigração [Emigration Observatory], data by Statistisches Bundesamt Deutschland.

Link <https://www.destatis.de/EN/Homepage.html>

[by Inês Vidigal]

Cite as Vidigal, Inês (2025), "Entry of Portuguese nationals into Germany reaches its highest level since 2018", Observatório da Emigração. <http://observatorioemigracao.pt/np4EN/10253.html>