

Slight recovery in Portuguese inflows to Sweden in 2025

2025-04-28

According to data from Statistics Sweden, 595 Portuguese nationals entered Sweden in 2025. During the same year, Swedish authorities recorded a total of 89,431 foreign inflows, with Portuguese nationals accounting for 0.7% of that total. +

Following the significant decline of 17.9% recorded in 2024 in Portuguese inflows to Swedish territory, 2025 registered a slight recovery, with an increase of 5.3%, in contrast to total immigrant inflows, which declined by 23%. Over the period under analysis (2000–2025), Portuguese emigration to Sweden reached its highest value in 2023 (688 inflows), a marked contrast with the 69 inflows recorded in 2000 (the lowest value in the series). Nevertheless, Portuguese emigration to Sweden continues to represent only a very small share of both total immigration to Sweden (0.7%) and total Portuguese emigration overall (less than 1%).
